

ARCHITECT YOUR DAY

DESIGN

THE CHOICE

Keep letting urgent requests, loose habits, and distractions decide where your time goes, or create a written plan that gives your work, health, family, growth, and rest a clear place before the day begins.

D DEFINE WHAT MUST FIT

List the real parts of the day before assigning time.

FIXED COMMITMENTS

FLEXIBLE PRIORITIES

Wake time: _____ Target bedtime: _____

E EXAMINE YOUR BEST HOURS

Match demanding work to the hours that can carry it.

STRONGEST FOCUS WINDOW

MOST IMPORTANT TASK

LOW ENERGY WINDOW BEST USE

S SET CLEAR TIME BLOCKS

Give each priority one start time, end time, and purpose.

TIME BLOCK PURPOSE

TIME	BLOCK PURPOSE
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____

I INCLUDE SPACE FOR REAL LIFE

Add buffers, transitions, rest, and a backup response.

BLOCK MOST LIKELY TO RUN LATE

BUFFER OR TRANSITION NEEDED

PLANNED REST

BACKUP RESPONSE

G GO BY THE PLAN

Prepare the environment and record what really happens.

FIRST BLOCK REMINDER

MAIN DISTRACTION BARRIER

WHAT MUST BE PREPARED TONIGHT

FIRST BLOCK THAT CHANGED

N NOTE WHAT NEEDS TO CHANGE

Use evidence from the day to improve the next version.

BEST WORKING BLOCK

BLOCK THAT FAILED

EXACT CAUSE

ONE CHANGE FOR TOMORROW

ACTION STEPS SUMMARY

MAP THE DAY

List every duty, goal, need, and fixed event before distractions take the space.

PLACE THE HOURS

Give each priority a clear time block based on your real schedule and energy.

REVIEW THE RESULTS

Follow the plan, record what happened, and improve the next day with evidence.

FINAL CHECK: Does every major priority have a real time, a clear purpose, enough space, and one adjustment based on what actually happened?