FACE YOUR FEAR HEAD-ON

Choice: Keep delaying the hard thing and let fear keep deciding your life, or take one direct action this week and prove you can move before certainty arrives.

Use this page to name one real fear, choose one direct action, schedule it, do it, and record what actually happened.

B R A V E

B BOX THE FEAR

Write the exact fear in one sentence. Keep it plain and honest.

I am afraid of:

It stops me from:

Make it specific enough that someone else could see the cost.

R REDUCE TO ONE ACTION

Choose one direct move that hits the fear on purpose.

The one action I will take:

Why this action matters:

Not research. Not planning. A visible action.

A ASSIGN TIME AND PLACE

Fear grows in open time. Put the action on the calendar.

Date

Time

Place

What could make me delay:

V VENTURE WITHOUT DELAY

When the moment arrives, move before your mind starts bargaining.

My rule for the moment:

What I will do in the first 10 seconds:

Examples: dial, stand, speak first, walk in, send, ask, answer.

E EVALUATE THE RESULT

Record facts after the action. Use reality, not drama.

What I predicted would happen:

What actually happened:

What this proves about me now:

Reflection: What part of the fear was real, what part was theater, and where else in my life have I been obeying prediction instead of testing reality?

1. DEFINE IT

Name the fear and the cost.

2. DO IT

Take one direct action on schedule.

3. PROVE IT

Use facts to build earned confidence.
